Providing Hope, Help and Healing to individuals, families and communities since 1944.
It is estimated that over 27 million Americans still suffer from dependence on alcohol or drugs. Less than 10% of those afflicted get into a treatment program. The National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence, Inc. has spent over seven decades advocating for the recognition of addiction as a public health problem and therefore a public responsibility. NCADD strongly believes that addicts can be helped and are worth helping.

In 2014, NCADD, including its Board of Directors, National Network of Affiliates, and staff actively pursued this belief through advocacy, prevention, education, treatment and medical and scientific research and study. We continued to emphasize, through traditional and social media, that addiction is a disease and that effective help is available.

Because of its long history, experience and reputation, this organization continues to be sought by a variety of government and private institutions to share its knowledge, comment on public policy and add its well recognized voice to a variety of issues related to alcoholism and drug dependence.

One of NCADD’s greatest resources is its website www.ncadd.org. The site offers comprehensive drug and alcohol information to over 200,000 visitors each month. During 2014, a project was started to update the website to insure that all information is current and to make the site easier to navigate, especially for those accessing it through tablets and cell phones. Twitter chats are also a prominent vehicle for discussing addiction-related issues in real time and NCADD partnered with a variety of government agencies and other nonprofit organizations to bring the latest information to our Twitter followers.

NCADD will finish the website project in mid-2015. Other priorities for 2015 include strengthening our National Network of Affiliates and increasing our presence and our voice in the nation’s capital.

We continue to work to break down barriers of ignorance and stigma so that individuals and families are encouraged to seek help. Our hope and vision is to bring the joy of recovery to all who desperately need it. We are incredibly grateful to our many donors, sponsors and volunteers who generously share time, energy and financial support to our mission and are essential to our success.

In gratitude,

Andrew Pucher, President/CEO
James L. Abernathy, Chair
14th Annual NCADD Spring Luncheon

The National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence held its 14th Annual Spring Luncheon on June 18, 2014, at the University Club of New York. Neil Lasher, a music industry veteran currently a Senior Consultant with Sony/ATV Music Publishing, was honored for his long-time work in the addiction recovery field.

In addition, NCADD Board member Arlene Rosen, was presented with the Marty Mann Founder’s Award for her extraordinary support of NCADD and its mission, and the James T. Lee Foundation was honored for its 25 plus years of continuous support of NCADD.

The keynote speaker for the afternoon luncheon was Bill Clegg, author of “Portrait of an Addict as a Young Man” and “Ninety Days.”

28th Annual NCADD Alcohol Awareness Month

Alcohol Awareness Month was founded by NCADD in 1987. Each April, NCADD Affiliates and other local organizations sponsor activities to create awareness and encourage individuals and families to get help for alcohol-related problems. The 2014 theme was “Help for Today, Hope for Tomorrow.”

An integral part of Alcohol Awareness Month is Alcohol-Free Weekend, which takes place on the first weekend of April to raise public awareness about the use of alcohol and how it may be affecting individuals, families, and communities.

During Alcohol-Free Weekend, NCADD extends an open invitation to all Americans to engage in three alcohol-free days. Those individuals or families who experience difficulty or discomfort in this 72-hour experiment are urged to contact local NCADD affiliates, Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) and/or Al-Anon to learn more about alcoholism and its early symptoms.

NCADD Alcohol & Other Drug-Related Birth Defects Awareness Week

Each May, NCADD and our National Network of Affiliates play a major and vital role across the U.S. in educating people, especially women, about the dangers of consuming alcohol and using drugs during pregnancy.

25th National Recovery Month

National Recovery Month celebrated its 25th anniversary in September 2014. NCADD is an active Recovery Month Planning Partner and once again NCADD Affiliates across the country hosted hundreds of local events to raise awareness and celebrate recovery. The 2014 theme, “Join the Voices for Recovery: Speak Up, Reach Out,” encouraged people to openly discuss mental and substance use disorders and emphasized the reality of recovery.

Recovery Month promotes the societal benefits of prevention, treatment, and recovery for substance use disorders, celebrates people in recovery, lauds the contributions of treatment and service providers, and promotes the message that recovery in all its forms is possible. Recovery Month spreads the message that prevention works, treatment is effective and people can and do recover.
DONORS AND SUPPORTERS

Donors and supporters are at the heart of NCADD's work in the field of alcoholism and drug dependence. We are honored to welcome our new donors and thank all whose commitment and vision will make a difference in the lives of those who are suffering from alcoholism and drug dependence. While we do not have space to list all who have contributed, NCADD would gratefully like to acknowledge the hundreds of generous friends who donated $500 or less.
