On January 1, 2016, Mr. Klein became Chief Policy and Strategy Officer at Oscar Insurance, a recently created, innovative health insurance company.

In 2011, Joel I. Klein became CEO of Amplify and Executive Vice President at News Corporation. In 2015 before joining Oscar Insurance, he became Senior Strategic Adviser at Amplify. Prior to that, Mr. Klein was Chancellor of the New York City Department of Education where he oversaw a system of over 1,600 schools with 1.1 million students, 136,000 employees and a $22 billion budget. Through his work as Chancellor he brought coherence and capacity to the system, resulting in significant increases in student performance.

He is a former Chairman and CEO of Bertelsmann, Inc., served as Assistant U.S. Attorney General in charge of the Antitrust Division of the U.S. Department of Justice until September 2000, and was Deputy White House Counsel to President Clinton from 1993 until 1995, concluding 20 years of public and private legal work in Washington, D.C.

Mr. Klein is a member of the Board of Directors of News Corporation, Amplify, Boston Properties, Inc., and the Board of Advisors of Point72. He also serves on the board of Teach for America, Foundation for Excellence in Education, Board of Visitors of Columbia College and is Chair of StudentsFirst New York.

Mr. Klein received his BA from Columbia University where he graduated magna cum laude in 1967, and earned his J.D. from Harvard Law School in 1971, also graduating magna cum laude. His numerous accomplishments were recognized by outstanding universities through honorary degrees.

He was selected by Time Magazine as one of Ten People who Mattered in 1999, by U.S. News and World Report as One of America’s 20 Best Leaders in 2006, and received the NYU Lewis Rudin Award in 2009, among many other distinguished honors.

He is the author of “Lessons of Hope: How to Fix Our Schools” released November 2014.
Nicole Seligman is President of Sony Corporation of America, where she oversees all corporate functions of Sony’s U.S. headquarters, including legal, finance, human resources, investor relations and corporate communications. She also serves as President of Sony Entertainment, Inc., the parent company of Sony Pictures Entertainment, Sony Music Entertainment and Sony/ATV Music Publishing. In this role, she is responsible for overseeing the subsidiaries’ key HQ functions, in addition to helping to drive profitability, growth and innovation in Sony’s entertainment sector. She is also Senior Legal Counsel for Sony Group.

Ms. Seligman joined Sony in 2001 as Executive Vice President and General Counsel of Sony Corporation of America (SCA) and was appointed SCA President in June 2012. She was a Corporate Executive Officer of Sony Corporation from 2003 until 2014 and the global General Counsel of Sony Corporation from 2005 until 2014, when she was named President of Sony Entertainment and Senior Legal Counsel, Sony Group.

Prior to joining SCA, Seligman was a partner in the litigation practice at Williams & Connolly LLP in Washington, D.C., working on a broad range of complex civil and criminal matters and counseling a wide range of clients, including President William Jefferson Clinton and Lt. Col. Oliver North.

Ms. Seligman received her B.A., magna cum laude, from Harvard College (Radcliffe) and her J.D., magna cum laude, from Harvard Law School, where she was a winner of the Sears Prize.

The Cohens and the entire Point72 family congratulate guests of honor Joel Klein and Nicole Seligman, and celebrate the 72nd Anniversary of the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence.

Joel and Nicole have dedicated their work and lives to two pillars of the pioneering goals and mission of the NCADD – education and advocacy – and they have achieved enormous success.

We salute Joel and Nicole, as well as their contributions to our city and its people on this special night.
Congratulations to the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence on their 72nd Anniversary. NCADD is the oldest advocacy organization dedicated to fighting the alcoholism and drug addiction. Through the years, NCADD and its 82 affiliates have made a meaningful and important difference in the lives of individual and families across the nation.

We also join in saluting Joel Klein and Nicole Seligman for their belief in and support of the programs provided by NCADD, and for the great spirit and dedication that they bring to all their endeavors.

Stephanie and John Foster
Congratulations, Joel Klein and Nicole Seligman.

We are proud to support the important work of National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence.

The National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence (NCADD) and its national network of Affiliates is the oldest advocacy organization in America, dedicated to fighting the Nation's #1 health problem – alcoholism and drug addiction. Addressing their devastating consequences on individuals, families and communities. NCADD is built on a foundation of members from the medical, scientific and social fields that provides a multi-pronged approach to this public health crisis.

Now in its 72nd year, NCADD continues to attack the stigma and misunderstanding about alcoholism and drug dependence through a program of education and advocacy. Its network of 82 member affiliates serve local communities with programs for treatment and recovery, education and prevention.

24 million Americans still struggle with problems related to alcoholism and drug dependence. Overdose deaths from heroin alone have doubled in the last decade, reaching over 16,000 in 2013.

The cost to our nation is enormous. The need for your support remains strong. NCADD thanks you for your generosity. You do make a difference.
